1918 Curtiss Jenny Issue Celebrates Aviation Pioneers

The Postal Service will issue a 24-cent stamp on May 15 commemorating the 1918 Curtiss Jenny airmail service. The stamp will be issued in panes of 100 and will be available at post offices and by mail order.

The design features a Curtiss JN-4 "Jenny" biplane flying over a stylized map of the eastern United States. The Jenny was the first aircraft widely used for airmail service, and the 1918 service between Washington, Philadelphia, and New York was the first regular airmail route in the world.

The stamp was designed by Art Director Carl Herrmann and engraved by Master Engraver Joseph Kalina. The first-day ceremony will be held at the Smithsonian National Air and Space Museum in Washington, D.C.

Inverted Jenny Sells for $1.2 Million

A mint sheet of the famous 1918 24-cent inverted Jenny stamp sold for $1,200,000 at auction in New York on March 3. The sheet, which contains 100 stamps, is the only complete sheet known to exist.

The buyer, who bid by telephone, was identified only as a collector from the Midwest. The sheet was consigned by the estate of a Connecticut collector who purchased it in 1955 for $15,000.

Coil Line Pair Errors

Coil line pair errors occur when the perforating machine misses every other row of perforations, producing a pair of stamps with perforations on only three sides. The error is relatively common on coil stamps and is worth a premium of 10 to 20 percent over the normal stamp.

Plate Block Collecting

A plate block is a block of four stamps that includes the plate number and other printing marks in the margin. Collecting plate blocks is a popular way to build a complete set of a stamp's printings.

Cover Collecting

A cover is an envelope that has been mailed with postage affixed. Collectors value covers for the postmarks, cachets, and routing information they carry, which can tell the story of how a piece of mail traveled.
